

Not The UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO VARSITY

VOLUME 69, NUMBER 69

CRACKING LAME-ASS JOKES SINCE 1880

TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1997

Radio Erindale gets FM license

"It's called no-hits radio," said station manager, Shevan Bastianpillai. "We don't play anything anybody wants to hear."

This backass approach to radio programming won Erindale the final FM frequency in southern Ontario, as well as accolades from the executives of all the major record labels.

not the varsity SHORTS

"Damn, now that's a good idea," said Git Rich, a Texan and president of Sony Music. "If we had more of that kind of programming on the air, there would be more diversity. I think it's a good idea."

Radio Erindale is currently preparing to host the Alterna-Grammys: Bands Nobody Wants to Hear. Principal McNuggets believes that the new frequency and award ceremony will bring a sense of prestige and notoriety that has been missing at Erindale ever since "the good old days."

LUMMOX PHILLIT

Zoom takes toilets to the bank

In an attempt to raise money for the new Student Centre, Principal McNutt has decided to sell all vacant Erindale washroom space to Zoom productions for an estimated 4.3 billion dollars. McPeaNutt made the announcement inside the third stall of the South Building's main floor potty.

"I am happy to say every john will be available to corporations, so that they won't suffer in these times of recession and tough competition," said McChestNutt, roasting on an open fire.

According to McBeerNutt, Zoom will provide each bathroom at Erindale with a salesperson. These salespeople will advertise everything from laxatives to bum paper and real estate. Zoom believes that Erindale's proactive approach to bathroom advertising is a great revenue builder for the college, and a stimulus for the economy.

Not everybody is happy with the university's decision to flood our toilets with advertising. Flush Derriere, a third-year commerce student, says that the salespeople will infringe on his rights. "Free market economy is a great idea, but this is ridiculous. I pee freely and I don't need help wiping," said Derriere.

An unnamed student was escorted from the bathroom after erupting at the principle. Spectators said the student was apparently intoxicated by alcohol advertisements posted above urinals that featured a woman in a bikini and the quote, "She's a He."

Faculty appeared upset as well. Many professors cried that the advertising restricted their academic freedoms and demanded raises. Professor of English, Beavis McLeod was especially verbal with his opinions. "I like pizza. I like ass. Actually, I love ass. I especially like ass cheeks, butt I don't like them together."

TIMOTEI SPECK

www.notthevarsity.ca

Amalgamation fails Colucci heartbroken

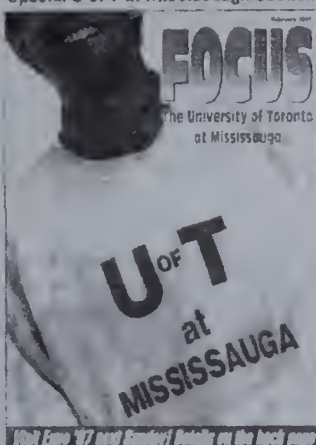

BY HEARTTHROB PRICE
Not the Varsity Staff

Jose Colucci, outgoing president of ECSU, rocked Erindale's world last Friday after proposing marriage to Katerina Warren, president of EPUS. Colucci made his move during latenight negotiations to amalgamate the two student unions.

According to Pickelus Panou, college affairs commissioner, Colucci's infatuation was not totally unknown to the people he worked with at ECSU. "Jose never stopped talking about her since they did those photos together for the Mississauga News Pull-out section [at right]," said Panou. "He was always smiling. Very often he would, like, just start giggling."

Panou supplied the minutes of past ECSU meetings and pointed out that Warren's name was mentioned by Couci no less than thirty times each meeting. "It was really getting annoying, you know. Hoseh was constantly comparing our student union's work to EPUS's. We could never do anything as well as Katerina," quipped Panou, musingly.

Special U of T at Mississauga Section

Hani Bishara, clubs administrator, described Colucci's behaviour at the amalgamation meeting as "too emotional." "He got up in the middle of the damned meeting and began talking about merging," said Bishara.

According to Fishara and Panoose, Colucci stood on a desk and ranted that the only way to end the duplication of services caused by the two student unions would be to merge them. He added that the holy merging of the two unions would spawn a new union named EPUSUSCE. "Then he got down on his knees, told Katerina he loved her, and asked her to marry him and make him the happiest s.o.b. in the world," said Panou.

Warren refused Colucci's advancements because she's already married. "He is cute, I guess, but I think an amalgamation of our unions at this time would be inappropriate," said Latrina. She also added, "I think Hoseh is over-worked at ECSU. If the stress is getting to him, he should come by EPUS for a free cup of coffee and a photocopy."

Outside the meeting, a teary-eyed Colucci was mobbed by Medium news reporters. "I did it because I love her. I really love her," he said.

"I think the proposed amalgamation is a good idea and I love her." When asked how he felt about the rejection, he replied, "It ain't the first time."

Jose Colucci: "We're smiling, her hand is on my shoulder, what's my next move??"

Salgado wins SAC then quits in shame

BY D. DANIEL KOERBER
Not the Varsity Sports Editor

After winning the SAC presidency last week, Ted Salgado shocked everyone across campus by resigning yesterday. He revealed that, as his opponent said, he really had "done nothing for Erindale campus," and thus was not worthy of the position.

Salgado said the issue had been "eating himself up inside" and that he had to come clean before he accepted the nice cushy job that pays $21,000 per annum.

"As my opponent said a few weeks ago, I have done nothing for Erindale campus. I have soiled the reputation of this beautiful, tree-covered, squirrel-inhabited paradise, by associating my name with it, and I hope that, in time, all can be forgiven," said Salgado before he knelt down to ask forgiveness from Principal McNutt.

Inside sources revealed that Salgado never really did work for ECSU in years past, and that he never tried to help out at the radio station. The Colman Place movie nights, which he said he had staged, were actually organized by his brother Ed Salgado.

FOR THE BIRDS: Salgado practices for his next career: park statue.

He didn't even produce the University Life TV show, now running on Rogers Cable Ten Mississauga—they just tossed his name in the credits as a joke.

"I did a lot of soulsearching before deciding to come clean," said Salgado.

"I realized I was living a big lie. I wasn't doing anything for Erindale campus. I wasn't even registered as a student at Erindale campus. Hell, I wasn't even living in Mississauga!"

"I got a body built for sin and an appetite for passion."

HIS PROGENY: Former News Editor Lennox Phillips (left) passes the torch (?) to newly elected News Editor Robert Price in a bizarre Medium hazing ritual. The Medium is still looking for applicants for Sports Editor, Features Editor, Arts Editor, and Photography Editor. Please, don't be afraid to apply.

Who cares about Apathy Club?

BY ROBERTO PRICEO
Not the Varsity Staff

With extremely low voter turnouts at University of Toronto elections last week, the Student Apathy Club (SAC) was formed yesterday to cash in on this clearly unrepresented portion of the student body. So far students' response has been low, but organizers are confident that applications will increase in weeks to come.

Pub night will be SAC's first event. The date for the pub has not been set.

SAC executives have already planned a referendum for next year in which students will be asked to pay $80.75 towards an apathy lounge. The lounge will contain big beanbag chairs and big-screen televisions. Upon paying the SAC sign-up fee of $10, students will get a free TV remote control.

Elections for the club's executive just took place. Nobody ran for anything and all the positions were acclaimed.

Sources tell Not the Varsity that a rivalry has quickly developed between the Student Apathy Club and the Erindale Indifference Association. When asked about this rivalry, leaders of both clubs didn't bother to comment.

with files from Dinkin' Corner.

News

McNutt rents campus to bloodthirsty Triad

by Derek and Dom

After reflecting on the tremendous success and overwhelming public support of the Zoom ads, Principal McNutt said in a news conference last week that he has rented Erindale Campus to the "Bloodthirsty Dragons," a Triad. With his "woman" at his side, a knotted handkerchief on his head, and sporting more gold than the Bre-X Borneo site, McNutt proudly flashed gang symbols to photographers and gave the Triad's social director a secret, convoluted handshake.

"Well, it was a close race between the Crips, the Dragons, and the Rock Machine, but what clinched it was that the Dragon's gang colours are extremely similar to Erindale's own!" said a delighted McNutt, as he announced the plan last Tuesday. When pressured, McNutt admitted that he originally thought that Triad was simply another toilet ad company. "Ah, we might as well make the most of it," McNutt enthused.

Because the campus rental is such a political hot potato, or, in this case, a warm plate of egg noodles, McNutt decided to hold a referendum. Following APUS's lead, the polling stations were manned with cheerleaders for the "Yes" side, crucified "No" voters and some of the best propaganda this side of "Triumph of the Will."

Students were confused by the ballot choices: "There were only two boxes: 'Yes' and 'Okay, sure!'" remarked one of the many students, who were herded and prodded like cattle towards the voting booth. For the first time in U of T history, 134,000 votes were cast in favour of the rental. Someone tried a "Vote the Cuckoo" campaign, but everyone ignored him because it was a stupid idea. Jackass.

Some minor disruptions were evident last week, when the Dragons officially moved onto campus. There was a drive-by shooting, but the assailants got stuck in the inner circle loop, ran out of bullets by the fifth pass, and eventually surrendered to the police. Campus Police, having nothing to go on but a signed confession and a "grainy, blurry videotape" were forced to release the perpetrators with a stern warning and a parking ticket.

Beaver Foods Staff have been given the responsibility of distributing the Triad's drugs, including crystal methamphetamines, horse tranquilizers, and Fun Dip. Some students have been receptive to this plan. "Beaver Food products have always made me hallucinate...but now I don't get that bloated feeling," claimed one student. "Zombiedom has never been so delicious or affordable," remarked another. Students are reminded that SAC's prescription plan does not cover narcotics, even those made on campus, but showing your SPC to your favourite dealer will get you a 10 percent discount.

Students are reminded that all goings-on are now a "family affair," and anyone caught going to the police will be labeled a "squealing pig" and dealt with firmly. Those who opposed the new plan were covered with peanut butter and tied to a stake and left to be ravaged by Erindale's populations of deer and squirrel. "It tickles and there's a squirrel down my trousers," smiled one victim.

Inspired by this, dozens of lonely Erindale Computer Science students were spotted covering their bodies with peanut butter and chasing deer down Mississauga Road, yelling, "I've been bad...I've been bad. Punish me, Dr. Tongue." Seeing the ineffectiveness of this form of punishment, the Dragons moved to giving victims concrete shoes and tossing them into Erindale's pond. However, since the pond is only five feet deep at its centre, only short people died. Who cares about short people anyway? More importantly, taller victims were left with their heads above water, complaining of prune fingers and "that mossy feeling." "It tickles and I've got a duck in my pants," remarked one victim.

McNutt mentioned that one benefit in having the Triad on campus is that they have offered to help to raise money for the Student Centre. When asked about their innovative fundraising ideas the head blood-letter for the Dragons replied, "We'll raise incidental fees and screw the students." President Prichard said, "I like the way these Triads think." The plan was quickly adopted.

Nipples, attention deficit...something, and...more nipples

We're Fucked!
Principal McNutt shamefully admitted that he sank all funds for the new Student Centre into Bre-X stock. The Calgary-based company subsequently lost $3-billion in less than half an hour during Thursday's trading. "The new Student Centre will be more like a Student Hut. Students will be allowed to sit in it in five-minute intervals."

Attention Deficit Disorder
The learning disabilities association of Mississauga is presenting Jimmy "No-attention-span" Johnson, and Ken "What-the-hell-was-I-talking-about?" Smith, who will lead a support...I'm bored with this one...McNutt. McNutt. Nutt-meister. Nipple. Hee Hee. I said nipple.

Nipple. Poo Poo. Poo Poo Nipple. Hee Hee. Nipple nipple.

his shirt over his head and no pants on. Police escorted him out of the building. So he was standing outside South Building with his shirt over his head and no pants on. Much better.

February 27, 1:50 p.m.: A female student reported finding a sexually-harassing note on her windshield. What kind of freak would want to have sex with a windshield?

March 3, 7:40 p.m.: Officers viewed a fight in lot #3 through security cameras and, thinking it was pay-per-view, cheered like jackals until the victor stood over his foe's beaten and bloody corpse.

March 26-27: Students of Erindale College said "no" to every wallet-robbing, greedy-guts money request made. You'll bleed us no longer. Our apathy has turned to cheapness and cynicism, and we ain't paying for stuff we ain't gonna use. It's gonna be a student puppet and a new bag of tennis balls for you, ECSU and ECARA. EPUS...23 votes. Way to mobilize the electorate!

McNutt News Nuggets

by Derek and Dom

Police Report
(Actual reports from the Campus Police over the year)

September 16, 8:55 p.m.: The Mississauga Fire Department was called out to parking lot #5 because a vehicle engine was smoking. Thank God it wasn't in a Toronto bar, or it would have been in real trouble.

October 11, 11:15 p.m.: A male was found in the South Building with February 11, 7:00 p.m.: A member of the caretaking staff reported that someone had pulled a thermostat off the wall near Room 2078 in the South Building. All the heat leaked out and set him on fire.

February 13, 5:00 p.m.: Several people complained of a male student staring at people for extended periods of time in the Greenery. Officers attended, but the male had left the area. Just couldn't quite cover the 20 metres before Bug-eyes left, eh, officers?

COME TO YOUR BLIND DUCK

Open All Week
(behind Cross Roads Bld.)

There are only

pub nights

left

Make sure you show your face before the year is out!

The winners of the Student Endowment Award are:

- Ottavio Ciccone
- Dom Mochrie
- Courtney Warren
- Claire Porter

Congratulations to the winners.

Cable FM RADIO 91.9
erindale

We can be heard on CABLE 91.9 FM

Radio Erindale is hiring for several positions.

These include: Station Manager • Programmer

- Finance Director • Music Director
- Director without Portfolio
- Promotions Director • Administrations

Interested people should see Nick Panou @ the E.C.S.U. office.

The new ECSU board next year will consist of the following students;

- Marco MarroccoECSU President
- Rami HerzallahVice President of Administration
- Angelo RomanoVice President of Finance
- Scott ReynoldsCollege Affairs Commissioner
- Pedro TavaresServices Co-ordinator
- Kristina AlvarezClubs Administrator
- Diego SalgadoAdvertising Director
- Rossana BiscegliaSpecial Projects Director

ECSU thanks those who participated in the election process.
Congratulations to the winners!

Be on the lookout for details regarding the Erindale College Formal.
Updates will be posted.

ECSU ERINDALE COLLEGE STUDENT UNION

You can contact us at our e-mail address: ecs@credit.erin.utoronto.ca or call us at: 828-5249

Recess

Wilson's Wonderpuzzle

by Carol Wilson

Five students in a math class, Art, Billy, Carol, Derek and Elmo were told their mid-terms were marked but they would only receive the tests back if they could figure out their mark. The marks were 65, 72, 85, 91 and 100. They were also told the following information:

- Art did not get 100
 - Billy did not get 65
 - Carol did not get either 65 or 100
 - Derek got a higher grade than Billy
 - Elmo did not get the grade directly above or directly below Carol
 - Carol did not get the grade directly above or below Billy.
- Who received what mark?

WEBSITE OF THE WEEK

This week's topic: APRIL FOOLS
by Ryan Duquette

It's April Fool's time again. The one time of the year that your practical jokes are justified. So, I thought I would give some practical-joke ammo to those of you who are humour impaired. The first and probably best site I visited has one minor drawback: it only applies to Macintosh owners, or those who have a friend with a Mac. <http://www.cse.psu.edu/~skrovins/fools.html> is a site full of pranks you can play on Mac users. There are about thirty little downloadable programmes guaranteed to wreak havoc on your friend's computers, while driving your friends insane. Examples include Arrgh! which emits random, painful-sounding screams; Bigfoot, which makes footsteps appear across your screen and your work, and Sdrawkcab, which reverses all text. You have to be very careful with these programmes because your friend will have to remove them from their computer, and then they may come after you and remove your head from your shoulders. For more Mac stuff visit <http://www.skidmore.edu/~brunning/machacks.html>.

There seems to be many sites catering to computer-related jokes. I found these kind of boring. April Fool's Day is all about seeing your friend's expression as the joke unfolds, not sending them a lame joke via e-mail. For those of you who are net nerds and have no friends other than your computer, this may be your only option. Visit <http://sunsite.unc.edu/dbarberi/april-fools.html> or <http://www.ingr.utk.edu/~winston/fool.html> to get some jokes that you can send via e-mail. A site that has a huge list of practical jokes is the Pranksta's Paradise at <http://www.voicenet.com/~mika>. This site has three categories: computers, cars and home and dorm, each of which offers tons of practical jokes. I found that a lot of the jokes here are either really juvenile, such as placing your friend's hand in warm water as they sleep (tried that one when I was about four), or they really aren't jokes at all, just downright malicious pranks, such as making a shaving cream can into a bomb and throwing it into your friend's room.

Well, I've given some suggestions, but remember, it's a stressful time of the year for a lot of people; anything too drastic may make them snap.

And to all my friends, just remember that I now have a list of pranks and I am prepared to use them everyday of the year, if I have to.

Never missing a money-making trick, UoT administrators have decided to cash in on the latest Tickle-Me Elmo craze by issuing their own dolls, each with unique catch-phrases. Squeeze their bellies three times in succession and you'll never know what crazy things they'll say.

Choke-me Commissioner*

"Hee hee. I want to play." "Hee hee. Perhaps you didn't fucking hear me." "Hee hee hee. If I ain't playing, you ain't breathing."

*The Choke-me Commissioner doll comes with real-life gripping hands for hours of throttling pleasure.

Slander-me Student Politicians

"Hee hee. That was a hatchet-job." "Hee hee. Are you taping me? 'Cos I'm taping you." "Hee hee hee. I'll sue you so fast you'll think your name's O.J."

Intimidate-me APUS

"Hee hee. Vote for me." "Hee hee. No, I mean you are going to vote for me." "Hee hee hee. Spoiled ballot...No vote. To-may-toe...to-mah-toe."

Inspire-me Fundraising Thinktank

"Hee hee. We'll raise tuition fees." "Hee hee. We'll raise tuition fees and ancillary fees." "Hee hee hee. We'll raise tuition fees, ancillary fees and make them sell their organs."

Screw-the-students-with-higher-tuition-fees Prichard*

"Hee hee. Call me Emperor Prichard." "Hee hee. More tuition means more temples." "Hee hee hee. Callous? Unsensitive? Unfeeling? Find who said that and *$%#@ them."

*The Prichard doll comes with an added feature:

His voice gets 20% louder each time you squeeze his belly.

Invade-my-privacy Zoom ads

"Hee hee. I can see your penis." "Hee hee. Are you wiping yet?" "Hee hee hee. You're never safe from my prying eyes."

Warn-me-sterly Campus Police

"Hee hee. Stop running. I can't pedal that fast." "Hee hee. I wish these vests were derisive-comment-proof as well." "Hee hee hee. Is that a real parking permit?"

Apathetic-zombie-me Student

"Hee hee. My two part-time jobs aren't enough to cover my rising tuition fees." "Hee hee. Job prospects after graduation are abysmal." "Hee hee...oh fuck, who am I kidding, my life's over. Where's my razor?"

Last week's Answers

Wilson's Wonderpuzzle Eggs 'o plenty

After the two transfers of eggs there are still 1000 eggs in each basket. Whatever number of cream eggs are in the second basket, these have displaced the same number of chocolate eggs that were there initially. The displaced chocolate eggs must now be in the first basket. Therefore, there are just as many cream eggs in the second basket as there are chocolate eggs in the first basket.

Classifieds

$$$ FOR OPINIONS

People needed to attend Market Research surveys. Cash paid. Call Karen @ 416-658-1626 to register.

Earn $50-$100K first year. Entrepreneurs-be in business for yourself. Real Estate Sales, complete corporate support. Weekly no cost training. Jack Cox 635-1232

Looking For Employment?

The 1997 Canada Student Employment Guide is an essential job search tool, containing valuable company information. Available now at your campus bookstore.

The Australian Employment & Travel Guide

AUSTRALIA - EMPLOYMENT Student jobs, teachers, professional, skill trades, working/adventure hols. 18+ M/F, single/married. Detailed legal employment & travel instructions.

208-725-0311

STUDENT CAMPGROUND. TIRED of the rules and regulations of the campgrounds you usually visit? Sick of lights-out policies and alcohol bans? Want a park where the camper is treated like a guest, not an intruder? Go to Country Camping, we've put the fun back into camping with music, live bands, activities, sand volleyball and much more. Call 1-800-UNDER-35 for a free brochure or visit our website at www.kanservu.ca/~whamilton.

A GREAT RESUME

is just a call away. Professionally produced; Laser-printed; $20. Call day or night. Free pick-up and delivery in Oakville. Call: 257-3263, Fax 257-2407.

Classified advertisements are only $2.50 for students and $5.00 for non-students and are a great way to reach the U of T market. Submit your ad by Thursday at 5 p.m. for the Monday issue.

SPORTS

Csepregi arrested for blackmail

EBHL Review Board to hold trial

by Bill Bailey

Newly elected ECARA special projects and promotions representative Janos Csepregi was arrested last night on charges of blackmail—an Erindale Ball Hockey League offence punishable by death.

Witnesses overheard a refereeing Csepregi boast to ICP's captain (at the face-off circle) that "ICP had no chance of winning, unless I'm given cases and cases of that delicious Hooch beer." ICP's captain refused, so throughout the game Csepregi failed to call fouls against ICP's opponents. He even called back a sure ICP goal. Conveniently for Csepregi, his abominable game calls were believed by most observers to be simply bad refereeing, which has been common among refs this season. But Csepregi had other plans—to hide the blackmail by imitating the typical Erindale ref. Clearly it wasn't too hard.

Csepregi will now face the Review Board, where his fate will be decided by ball hockey commissioners Zuhair "Swan Dive" Fancy and Tony Varghese, as well as athletic department representative Jack Krist. "I think this case is cut and dried!!" said Krist. "Sending him to the gallows is the only answer!! I mean, this is ball hockey for god's sake!!" added Krist.

Athletic Director Peter Baxter refused to comment on the pending trial, however, he said that if Csepregi's trial is postponed there may be time to incorporate an execution chamber into the athletic facilities. The addition of the execution chamber, Baxter said, would add another student employment opportunity (hangman) to the athletic department. It could also be rented to the government (as a fundraising device) if they re-implement capital punishment.

Erindale Police actually arresting somebody? Yeah right.

DIVISION X

PLAYOFFS

FINALS: BEST OF FOUR GAME SERIES

GAME FOUR: Mad Dogs 2 vs. Badd Ass Guys 1

First Half

1. Mad Dogs, Smith (Doe) 18:32 (pp)
2. Badd Ass Guys, Gooden (Baden) 15:32 (pp)
Penalties - Howard, Mad Dogs (cracking skull minor) 20:00, Davidson, Mad Dogs (vicious groin attack minor) 17:21, Ricardo, Badd Ass Guys (insignificant-fight minor) 15:21, Moore, Mad Dogs (insignificant-fight minor) 12:20, Sage, Mad Dogs (third man into the insignificant-fight minor) 10:22, Ali Khan, Badd Ass Guys (strangling commissioner minor) 8:21, Sante, Badd Ass Guys (double severed limb major) 5:21, Richardson, Mad Dogs (tying ref up in ratters by his pants minor) 3:21, Johns, Badd Ass Guys (beating the shit out of official scorer after he took away his assist minor) 1:34, Ready, Mad Dogs (threatening fans who call him names minor) 0:00

Second Half

3. Mad Dogs, Smith (Doe) 0:05 (pp)
Penalties - Orelle, Mad Dogs (focussing attention on the pretty girls in the crowd instead of tending the twine major) 20:00, Sendall, Badd Ass Guys (voting against the new gym proposal game misconduct) 16:21, Meltin, Mad Dogs (complaining to the Sports Editor when you think the write-up about you is unfair major) 10:21, Montey, Mad Dogs (leaving the game because you have to go to class major, game misconduct, automatic suspension from league for life) 8:21, Davidson, Mad Dogs (vicious groin attack triple minor), Davidson, Mad Dogs (whine to Peter Baxter when someone threatens you major) 5:10, Ricardo-Ali Khan-Sante-Relly-Johns-Sendall, Badd Ass Guys (mass suicide after losing finals major) 0:02
Goal - Mad Dogs: Orelle; Badd Ass Guys: Relly

Both teams give 110% in ball hockey final

by Saul Hudson

In a clash between two of the powerhouse teams in the men's ball hockey league, the Red Birds—led by the sheer fury of Jon Singh, who potted four goals—physically annihilated the powerhouse Dogs 8-3. This was another game that got out of hand in terms of the score.

In front of a stunned capacity crowd, Singh (who is a force to be reckoned with in this league) orchestrated two goals in the first few minutes of this long-awaited affair. His first marker was a lethal strike into the top corner. The goaltender wasn't even in the neighbourhood on that one. This quick strike set the tone for the game, as the Red Birds unleashed their explosive offence.

The stunned capacity crowd was in an uproar, after Singh went on a seek-and-destroy mission on a breakaway to score his second goal.

The Dogs made a thrilling attempt at a comeback, scoring their three goals in the dying seconds of the match. This feat was mainly due to the heroics of Jack Smythe, who scored two and assisted on the third.

However, the offensive prowess of the Red Birds shell-shocked the Dogs' goaltender Damon White, and his subsequent let down eventually cost them dearly. Some observers question whether White is good enough to play in front of capacity crowds in the Erindale gym.

From the first whistle, the Red Birds dazed their opponents with quick and lethal offensive strikes, but they didn't just flex their offensive muscles; they showed a lot of defensive prowess. Their solid wall of defence, led by defensive twin towers Mark Wright and Asif Jamal was key.

Red Birds look good for the playoffs, as their strength is a defence that attacks the man and successfully suffocates the forwards.

Secret gym plans revealed

After losing last week's fee increase referendum, insiders revealed the actual gym plans.

No one outside of ECARA and the athletic department knew of these plans, but in previous interviews Athletic Director Peter Baxter had hinted at the addition of amenities to the project. The plan to keep these amenities secret until winning the referendum may have backfired. I mean, what student wouldn't have wanted to see Foxy Boxing?!

by The Imaginary Boy

THEY COULD BE TWINS.

IS IT... a romantically-depraved Editor-in-chief...

OR a guy getting his face licked by a dog whose tougue tastes like his nuts?

Budgetary restraint begets bloodletting

Carving the carcass in a futile effort to bleed more blood, from left to right: Erindale Athletic Director Peter Baxter, and the two Robs, U of T President Prichard, and Erindale Principal McNutt. Also, right of McNutt is Gary "former Radio-head" Matos (just 'cause we thought Gary should have his photo the paper one last time) and ECARA VP Finance and brute hockey aficionado Omar Alikhan (who do you think choked the pig?).

